A-Bomb Held As Peace Ace

By JOHN A. REICHMANN

WASHINGTON, March 23 (INS)—The White House refused today to give any specific reason for the postponement of the atomic bomb tests in the Pacific, but moved quickly to squelch speculation on President Truman's action. Secretary Ross told a news conference Mr. Truman's action in delaying the experiment for six weeks was "no sudden decision," adding: "A good deal of the speculation about the postponement is fantastic."

SEEKS DIVORCE—A divorce petition has been filed in Miami, Fla., by Grace Barrie, singer, against her bandleader husband, Dick Stabile. She charges desertion. The singer also seeks to resume her maiden name.

The tests of atomic bombs against warships at Bikini atoll near the Marshall Islands originally were scheduled for May 15 and July 1.

When Ross last night announced the postponement, he said the decision had been reached because many members of Congress were too busy legislating to make the trip as observers.

Ross' statement today was believed to be aimed directly at speculation that the delay in the atom bomb tests was somehow connected with the crisis in United Nations affairs.

Despite repeated White House assurances, observers continued to emphasize the point that the postponement will enable the U. S. to hold back its ace diplomatic card while current world issues are being resolved.

It was considered possible that President Truman, acting after the optimistic peace statement by Soviet Premier Stalin, may have postponed the tests in an attempt to help soothe the troubled international waters.

For three days ago the Moscow radio complained of U. S. use of the atomic bomb as a threat in international diplomacy. The Russians asserted the U. S. was seeking to establish an atomic dictatorship.

It was also believed possible that developments in the investigation of the asserted Soviet spy ring in Canada, which centered on the atomic bomb, might be a factor in the postponement.

Announcement of the decision was made by Ross on the eve of the gathering of members of the UNO security council for the New York meeting which many believe will determine the life of that organization and of world peace.

Diplomatic observers contended that, in the present diplomatic situation, with Army and Navy manpower depleted, the atomic bomb is the sole weapon the U. S. has to back up its arguments for peaceful settlement of international disputes.

If the UNO Security Council cannot come to some amicable settlement of the Iranian question—as well as other problems that may arise—the U. S. might wish to conceal the effectiveness of its ace secret.

MARITAL BREAK-UP—Diana Barrymore, daughter of John Barrymore and Michael Strange the writer, today confirmed reports that she and her husband of four years, Bramwell Fletcher, have come to a parting of the ways. The actress said Fletcher had moved out of their home. "You can put it down to incompatibility or anything you wish," she said.

Reds May Quit Iran Before UNO Meeting

TEHRAN, March 23 (INS) — Premier Ahmad Ghavam Sultaneh announced tonight that direct negotiations with Soviet Russia may result in withdrawal of the Red army from Iran before the UNO Security Council meets in New York Monday.

The premier said he had received no reports on Soviet troop movements in Northern Iran, and added:

"I am not concerned over Soviet attempts to postpone the meeting of the Security Council because the Persian question would come up before the council when it met in any case."

Solons Hopeful On Stalin's Views

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP) —A more hopeful feeling on future international relations pervaded the capital today as a new U. S. ambassador prepared to leave for Moscow. Stalin's avowal of faith in the UNO was taken as an encouraging prelude to the departure of Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith for his post in the Soviet capital. He plans to leave tomorrow.

President Truman's reaction to the Stalin statement was that he had always known the way the Russian leader felt, a White House spokesman disclosed.

While lawmakers generally welcomed Stalin's declaration that no nations or their armies are seeking another war, there were many crossed fingers on Capitol Hill. The doubt was whether future Russian policy would back up everything Stalin had to say.

Atom Bomb Secrets Safe, Says Groves

LOS ANGELES, March 23 (AP) —The secrets of the atom bomb are safe from any spy ring, says Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, Army director of atomic projects.

"The bomb project is a little like a giant jigsaw puzzle with 100,000 pieces," he said at a press conference. "A chance betrayal by one of our scientists might reveal five or 10 pieces out of the 100,000, but that would mean almost nothing."

$9 Hingham Tax Rate Boost Seen

A $9 increase in the Hingham tax rate, boosting it to $38 per $1000 of assessed valuation, was predicted today by J. Irving Botting, town accountant.

Appropriations at last week's town meeting totaled $1,124,553, part of which was represented by a $300,000 school.

'A' Tests Off Indefinitely, US Aides Hint

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP) —Possibility that the atomic bomb tests in the Pacific may be delayed indefinitely was raised today by two men closely linked with preparations for the event.

The two officials who suggested this possibility talked to a reporter about the same time that Sen. Huffman (D.) of Ohio, disclosed he intends to seek Senate action cancelling the tests entirely.

Huffman said in a statement at Columbus "the postponement should be made permanent."

The two officials, who would not allow the use of their names, said they thought the six weeks postponement would be extended at least until former World War Two Allies have adjusted their post-war differences.

One official said it would be "rather dangerous to discuss" the real reasons at this time when "there is every indication that an improvement in the general picture is in evidence."

"Nothing should be allowed to disturb that trend at this time," he added. "The tests may well be delayed until everybody is pulling together."

Both commented that the six-week postponement would carry the tests close to the typhoon season.

Battleship Delays Sailing for Bomb Test

SEATTLE, March 23 (AP)—The 13th Naval District headquarters today announced the indefinite postponement of the sailing tomorrow of the historic old battleship Pennsylvania, long the flagship of the United States fleet, as a guinea pig for the atomic bomb tests in the Bikini atoll.

Previously the naval district headquarters had said that the Pennsylvania would sail tomorrow as scheduled, in spite of the announced postponement.

Only Force Can Subdue Russia, Earle Says

World peace will be lost unless the United States delivers an immediate ultimatum to Soviet Russia to get out of Iran and eastern Europe, Navy Com. George H. Earle declared today as he landed in Boston from an official diplomatic mission in eastern Europe.

"Russia understands only force and the threat of force," declared Earle, a former Governor of Pennsylvania, ambassador to Hungary and Bulgaria, and confidant of President Roosevelt.

"Democracy made an appeal to Hitler and he overran Europe. Russia is following the same pattern. Once the Russians manufacture the atomic bomb there will be few Americans left. They despise our economy.

"The United States must declare war on Russia, if the Soviet does not live up to its agreement to get out of Iran.

"We must use the atomic bomb on them, too, if they refuse to heed our ultimatum, for they would use it on us. Stalin is spending milions to obtain information about the atomic bomb. They would not have attempted to steal atomic information for other than sinister purposes. The atomic bomb is so deadly that we cannot temporize with murderers like the Russian leaders."

He placed the blame for present American appeasement of Russia on American statesmen.

"Why certain liberals support Communism and Russia, I cannot understand," he said. "In Russia there is no liberalism. People are in constant, deathly fear of expressing an opinion.

"Here in America, thank God, we still can express our opinions freely. The Hearst newspapers are to be commended for warning the American people against their potential annihilators, the Russians. The Hearst newspapers are performing a great service to democracy."

Earle, who will report to President Truman on his mission, said he would urge him against leaving the current Russian crisis up to the United Nations Organization.

Earle made his charges in the presence of two reporters and three photographers, representing Boston newspapers and wire services.

"Russia has made a farce of the UNO," he said. "It is a worthless, powerless organization. The Russians took all the teeth from it when they insisted on having a veto power.

"Don't believe Marshal Stalin's claims in support of the UNO any more than you would believe the word of Hitler. He is the same diabolical dictator.

"Russia's whole history is one of broken promises. The teachings of Lenin advocate deceit, theft, crime, immorality. In Lenin's creed anything unethical is all right—if it aids Communism."

He declared Russia had permitted American envoys and representatives to see only what the Soviet wanted them to see and as a result they knew little more about Russia than does the average American.

Earle said he went to eastern Europe on a secret mission for President Roosevelt long before the outbreak of World War II.

"I witnessed what I believe to be the world's worst atrocities," he said. "These horrible crimes were not committed by Nazis alone but by Russians as well.

"There are more than 15,000,000 people in Russian concentration camps today, suffering the same tortures the Japs committed on Americans at Bataan.

"I have first-hand accounts by officers of the merciless attacks by Russian soldiers on women of Hungary. When Budapest fell, the women screamed for three days and were raped and killed in cold blood by the Russians."

Com. Earle and his Belgian-born wife, the former Jacqueline Sacre, whom he married last December in Turkey, arrived in Boston from Istanbul aboard the export freighter Exhibitor.

Earle entered the controversial European scene in February, 1941—10 months before Pearl Harbor—by flooring a Nazi industrialist in a Sofia cafe when the German protested his request for the band to play "Tipperary." The Nazi hurled a champagne bottle at Earle, who countered with a haymaker.

Teacher Groups Draw Up Merger

Representatives of 49 Boston teacher organizations voted in a closed session today to send questionnaires to all Boston teachers to determine the best method for uniting themselves in a single group to protect their interests in Boston's turbulent school situation.

Prior to passage of the motion in favor of the questionnaire, the teachers agreed unanimously they had demonstrated their "basic assertion that teacher morale was low and that the outpouring of over 2000 at Tremont Temple last Tuesday was an endorsement of the opinions expressed in "The Teachers' Voice (English High School teacher publication), concerning morale and discipline in the Boston schools."

John J. Buckley, president of the Boston Schoolmen's Economic Ass'n; Miss Catherine McHugh, head of the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club, and Thomas A. O'Keefe, of the High School of Commerce, headed a committee of 14 which drew up the questionnaire that will be printed and mailed to all teachers, principals and headmasters no later than Tuesday.

The questionnaire asked each teacher:

"Do you favor the formation of an organization to include all teachers of the Boston public schools?

"Do you favor the formation of a temporary organizing committee, consisting of representatives to be elected by the teachers of each school district?

Among the 50 or 60 representatives present at today's meeting were Miss Mary M. Facey, vice-president of the Elementary Teachers' Club; Eugene O'Neil, secretary of the Schoolmen's Ass'n; Miss Mary McDavitt, Gavin Intermediate School, Dorchester, and John Brougham, South Boston High School.

Also, Miss Mary McDevitt, Longfellow School, Roslindale; Miss Catherine Day, Thomas Gardner School, Brighton; Miss Louise O'Malley, Jamaica Plain High School; Principal Julia Fitzpatrick, Julia Ward Howe School, Roxbury; Miss Esther G. Kedian, Benjamin Dean School, South Boston.

Miss Sara M. Curran, Gaston School, South Boston; Miss Grace V. Lynch, head of English department, Jeremiah E. Burke School, Dorchester; Miss Dorothy Morrill, Warren School, Charlestown; Miss Rita Morris, president of the Boston Temporary Teachers' Club, and the Misses Barbara Olsen and Hilda Cohen, secretaries of that club.

Meanwhile, teachers at the Michelangelo School in the North End waited for Monday to see whether 250 upper grade pupils who went on a two-day strike would return to classes.

The strike apparently ended yesterday when the pupils promised to return Monday after being assured there would be a thorough investigation of all their complaints, particularly that of racial discrimination.

Police also were investigating the complaint of Louis Bruno, 14-year-old ninth grade pupil, that he had been beaten by classmates for refusing to join the walkout.

Who's Hoo? She Finds Out

NEW YORK, March 23 (INS)—Victor Chi-Tsai Hoo, genial member of UNO headquarters staff, told this story on himself today.

Trygve Lie, secretary-general, called a meeting and a subordinate phoned Mr. Hoo to come to "610" but failed to add Fifth ave.

Mr. Hoo went to Room 610 in the Waldorf. A woman answered the door and invited him in. As Mr. Hoo began to doubt whether this was the UNO meeting room the woman gave him a package of laundry.

Diplomacy came to his aid. He said:

"Madame, I'm afraid there has been a slight misunderstanding. In your country many Chinamen are laundrymen but not all Chinamen are laundrymen."

Defies Navy to Halt Marriage

HONOLULU, March 23—If the Navy thinks it can break up her romance with S 1c John H. Ochsner, 19, heir to a $2,000,000 California oil fortune, it's got another think coming, Marguerite Faye Human, 18, blue-eyed blonde stowaway, announced today. Marguerite, quartered in a 75-cent hotel cubicle here, admitted she stowed away aboard the Navy Transport President Hayes in San Francisco so she could marry her handsome young sweetheart, who was transferred to Hawaii after they met at a California dance.

"We love each other, and just as soon as he's 20, which will be May 30, we'll get married," she declared. "Nothing can come between Johnny and me and nothing can stop us from getting married."

The couple attempted to get a marriage license here but failed because Ochsner was too young under territorial law. Then his mother, Mrs. Hilda Carling Ochsner of Oakland, asked territorial and naval authorities to prevent the marriage.

"Johnny came to see me after he talked to the naval chaplain," said Marguerite. "He was supposed to bawl me out and tell me he wasn't going to marry me. Johnny just hadn't had gumption to tell the chaplain he still wants to marry me.

"I don't know when I'll see Johnny again, because he overstayed his liberty night before last and I guess they'll give him heck for it."

She said she intended to find better quarters, and "we have a friend who is finding an apartment for us to move into when Johnny and I are married."

Ochsner is to inherit about $2,000,000 in Kettelman Hills oil wealth when he becomes 21, but Marguerite insisted "his money doesn't mean a thing to me."

Marguerite said she was born in New Orleans Aug. 8, 1927, and her parents separated when she was an infant. She said her brother, Eddie, is in school at Foster, Okla.

Court Comedy in 3 Acts

CHICAGO, March 23 (AP)—Two men, identical in height, weight, appearance and clothing, stood before traffic Judge Harry P. Beam as a bailiff read a charge of passing a street car on the left.

Policeman Leonard Maloney eyed the two and said:

"Honest, judge, I don't know which—but it was one of them."

One of the men, grinning, spoke up:

"It was me, judge. I'm John Henry Bokma, 30. This is my brother, Theodore James. They couldn't even tell us apart in the Army."

"Well," Judge Beam sighed, "you were honest and you have good war records. I'm going to dismiss the case against you twins."

"But we aren't twins," chorused the brothers, pointing to a young lady who had stepped up to the bench. "This is our sister, Lucille. We're triplets."

4 Maine Escapees Trapped in Wood

BANGOR, Me., March 23—Four of six escaped prisoners from the State reformatory still at large were believed cornered in a backwoods section near here today as a result of the alertness of Mrs. Guy Mullen, wife of a Levant farmer.

A dozen carloads of police, troopers and deputy sheriffs set out for the area after Mrs. Mullen reported the men had come to her home for a tow, saying their auto was mired in a backroad near by.

Boys Chase Ball, Find House Afire

While occupants of a Brighton apartment house were unaware of danger, fire which broke out on the roof of the building was discovered today by two boys searching for a lost ball.

Dist Chief Joseph Shea ordered a second alarm sounded, while another alarm rang in Brookline. Demage, estimated at $4000, was confined to the roof.

Reds Tipped on A-Bomb Before Hiroshima Raid

By MICHAEL GRIFFIN

MONTREAL, March 23 (INS)—One of the letters taken from a safe in the Russian embassy by Igor Gouzenko indicated today that Russia had a tipoff on American atomic bomb experiments at least three months before the first of these deadly missiles was dropped on the Japanese city of Hiroshima.

HELD IN SPY PROBE—Israel Halperin, former Harvard Don, is under arrest in Ottawa, Canada, in connection with the Canadian espionage plot. He is now a mathematics teacher at Queen's University in Canada. International News Photo

Gouzenko, former cipher clerk in the embassy whose first sip of capitalism gave him a pronounced distaste for Communism, identified the letter and other documents this morning during the second day of testimony in the hearing on charges of Soviet spy activity against Fred Rose, Communist member of Parliament.

The letter, written by Lieut. Col. Rogov, assistant military attache at the embassy, was addressed to "Dear Mother and Father," and presumably sent to Moscow, it said:

"Badeau told him that an important nuclear experiment was being conducted regarding bombardment of uranium to produce energy. This is more hush-hush than radar."

"Badeau" was identified yesterday as the cover name for "Dunford Smith," a government employe. The "him" mentioned in the letter, according to Gouzenko, was Capt. David Gordon Luman, a member of the Canadian national research council.

The letter was dated April 15, 1945.

It reported that Lunan "had been cautious and insisted upon checking my credentials," adding:

"One or two have opposed introduction of new members because of the danger to their security. I think it wise that we don't characterize the work for what it really is."

Earlier in the morning, Gouzenko also identified a document which he said was a blueprint of the espionage ring personnel. Top man was listed as Col. Rogov, he said, under the name of "Jan."

Gouzenko said subordinates include Lunan, Israel Halperin, Queens University mathematician, Smith and Ned Mazerall, another government employe already arraigned at Ottawa.

Oratory Test Hits Peak of Interest

By BERT FORD

Throughout the city, intramural contests in 44 public and parochial high schools, as well as in colleges in the Greater Boston area, are ended or near completion in the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest, with interest and enthusiasm at a peak among the contesting students.

Latest intramural winners from two famous Boston high schools were announced after keen and stimulating competition.

From Girls' Latin School the winner is Miss Margaret Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Murphy of Leedsville st., Dorchester. Miss Murphy, who is 17, is a senior, and won a local award in a previous Hearst Oratorical Contest.

She is a graduate of Maher Grammar School in Dorchester and president of the Current Events Club at Girls' Latin.

From English High School came announcement that John F. Flynn, 17, son of Com. and Mrs. John F. Flynn of Brook st., Brighton, had been chosen to represent his school in the Boston finals, to be held in Faneuil Hall on April 10. Young Flynn is a member of the executive committee of the senior class, and editor-in-chief of the school's Year Book. He is a graduate of Thomas A. Edison Grammar School.

Like many another student in Boston's public and parochial high schools and colleges, these two intramural winners have found inspiration and a guide to citizenship in the subject of the contest: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States."

This contest is open to public and parochial high school students and to college students in 13 major cities throughout the country and all have an opportunity to share in local and national awards totaling $25,000 in Victory Bonds.

Both eastern zone and national finals will be held in Boston, at Boston Latin School, the zone finals April 24 and the national finals May 2. Prizes in both finals will be equally divided between high school and college groups.

All students are reminded that their oration must be original and delivered without reference to notes; that it must not exceed six minutes, and that relatives or employes of the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser are not eligible to participate in the contest.

Democratic Spirit

From the day when Gen. Jackson took office as President, his popularity with the people was assured. They recognized in him that democratic spirit that was to become even more manifest in his administration.

His first cabinet, although not distinguished, was chosen with the idea of best representing the people. Martin Van Buren, at that time governor of New York, was named Secretary of State. The remaining five members were of no special importance at that time or in subsequent history. But Jackson, by their appointment, had made clear that he envisioned democratic ideals for the nation that had honored him.

2000 Fore River Workers Reject 18-Ct. Hr. Boost

More than 2000 Fore River shipyard workers today turned down an 18-cents-an-hour pay raise and new labor contracts offered by the Bethlehem Steel Co.

At an overflow mass meeting in Quincy High School auditorium the CIO-affiliated workers, members of Local 5 of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, voted unanimously to reject the proposals.

The pay increase and other contract provisions were identical with offers made by the steel company to its yards throughout the country.

The meeting was still in session at noon.

The workers followed their rejection of the straight pay raise with a resolution demanding that they be granted the gains handed down for shipyard employes by the War Labor Board last June.

The board's directive at that time provided that the 17-cent raise be applied to contract rates, base rates, piece rates and position rates, all retroactive to Dec. 4, 1945.

2-Day-Old Girl Rallying After Surgery in Hub

Two-day-old Nancy Eleanor Perkins, who was flown here from the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, yesterday, for an emergency operation because she could neither breathe nor swallow normally, lay for 90 minutes under the surgeon's knife at Children's Hospital today—and her world is looking up.

Authorities said the delicate operation had been successful and if Nancy's tiny body conquers post-operative shock she will be "absolutely normal."

The good word was flashed by the Army Special Service Bureau to Nancy's anxious parents, Lt. and Mrs. Gordon Perkins of Alexandria, Va.,—hospital patients themselves. Mrs. Perkins is still in the maternity ward at the Walter Reed. Her husband is in an iron lung there, under treatment for infantile paralysis.

Nancy's operation was performed by the famous throat surgeon, Dr. Robert Gross, and three colleagues. She was given cyclopropane, a gas, instead of ether, due to the delicacy of the operation.

The tiny girl was brought into the operating room from an incubator. The surgeons found a "kickback" of mucus from her clogged esophagus, the tube leading from throat to stomach. This was opened, revealing a pouch that blocked it. The surgeons opened this also and straightened the esophagus.

Nancy was carried back to her incubator. She will be given intravenous feeding and 24-hour-a-day vigilance.

Film Star, Hubby Separate

There was talk from time to time that Ann, who has made a tremendous success on the screen in the role of "Mazie," and her handsome young husband, who was a lieutenant in the Army, were not as happy as they had been before their separation of three years.

When they went to New York and were given an ovation and reception such as has been accorded few Hollywood top names, Ann's friends, of whom I am one, hoped everything had harmoniously readjusted itself for them.

Following his discharge from the Army, Bob signed a contract with Ann's studio. Someone close to him and Ann said he felt his career would stop at the most promising time, and that it was difficult for him to realize his career had stood still during his years in service while Ann had become so popular.

The Sterlings were married May 23, 1943, and have a 15-month-old daughter, Patricia Ann.

I asked Ann if perhaps this was just a quarrel such as all married people have, but she said very firmly, "No," and neither is it one of Hollywood's familiar separations. That is the reason why I have refused to charge their parting to incompatibility.

Ann was divorced several years ago from Roger Pryor, Broadway actor.

German Rocket To Be Sent 100 Mi. High in U. S. Test

WHITE SANDS, N. M., March 23 (AP) — Lt. Col. Harold R. Turner, commanding officer of the White Sands Proving Grounds said today he expected to send a V-2 German rocket 100 miles high in a test sometime in April.

Instruments will record atmospheric conditions at that height for the first time, Turner said.

The present record is 62 miles, set by a German rocket during the war, Turner stated.

The 13½-ton rocket is 49 feet long, six feet in diameter, will be fueled with alcohol and liquid oxygen.

Military personnel witnessing the test will be protected by a concrete shelter with walls 10 feet thick and a cone-shaped roof 35 feet thick.

Turner believes a change in the controls of the German rocket will launch it 125 miles high.

NORFOLK, March 23—Seven fire departments today battled flames which destroyed the Richard Bigelow farm, then swept into adjoining woods toward Norfolk center.

U. S. Agent Caused Death Of Wife, Farmer Charges

WARREN, O., March 23 (AP)—A federal Department of Agriculture agent was charged in a $100,000 damage suit today with causing the wife of a farm owner to become ill and die of a heart attack.

Temple McAllister, who operates a farm of some 1200 acres near here, made the accusations yesterday in a common pleas court suit against Thomas E. Maulsby.

McAllister charged Maulsby came to his farm Thursday and by "unlawful, malicious and illegal conduct" caused his 50-year-old wife to suffer a fatal heart attack. Maulsby was not available for comment.

The federal agent, the suit contended, called one of McAllister's employes a liar and a "vile and indecent name," and upon being ordered to leave the barn where the man was working "purposely . . . drove his automobile over the plaintiff's lawn when he saw Mrs. McAllister hanging up clothes in the back yard."

McAllister charged that Maulsby called on a number of retail stores near Warren that handle McAllister's dairy products "in an effort to sever customers from McAllister and . . . actually bribed former employes of McAllister to make false statements." McAllister did not explain what type of statements the agent attempted to obtain.

Bluebeard Pose As Gestapo Foe Dealt Hard Blow

By LOWELL BENNETT

PARIS, March 23 (INS)—Dr. Marcel Petiot, the Parisian "Bluebeard," fought a losing battle today to maintain his basic defense that all of the alleged victims of his murder mill were Gestapo "stoolpigeons."

His brilliant attorney, Jacques Floriot, met his match this afternoon when he wrangled with a witness who refused to be swayed—Marius Battu, chief inspector of the criminal brigade which investigated the deaths of 26 persons attributed to Petiot. Petiot claims he snuffed out the lives of 63 persons.

Although Battu perspired freely and breathed heavily during a two-hour tug of war, defense counsel was unable to hammer down his original testimony that the French Bluebeard created a murder mill to eliminate refugee Jews.

At the height of the bitter battle, Battu shouted:

"You're playing a game. You're trying to demoralize me but I won't play."

The prosecution was clearly encouraged at the sight of a witness who refused to be swayed from his testimony.

The jury members continued to show absolute bewilderment at the obscure details related by Battu while dozens of female spectators—many of them sporting the latest spring fashions—studied Petiot's wan face through opera glasses.

The mass murder trial returned to the courtroom after a day of on the spot investigation in Petiot's Rue Lesued charnel house.

Hearing Delayed On MacDonald

At the request of State Public Works Comr. Herman A. MacDonald, Gov. Tobin today ordered a two-week postponement in the hearing of ouster charges against the commissioner.

Announcing the hearing would take place April 9 instead of March 26, the governor said he had agreed "reluctantly" to MacDonald's request so that he "may have every opportunity to disprove the serious charges against him, if it is possible for him to do so."

MacDonald has been accused by Gov. Tobin of inefficiency in cooperating with the federal aid road construction building.

Atty. Russell Coffin filed the request for postponement.

Gov. Tobin said his chief counsel at the hearing would be Atty. Daniel J. Lyne, former president of the Boston Bar Ass'n and general counsel for the Greater Boston Community Fund last year.

Oriental Disease Menaces U. S.

HONOLULU, March 22 (AP)—Capt. Paul Withington, assistant medical officer of the 14th Naval District, declared today the United States was "sitting on a volcano of disease" from the Orient which might erupt in a major epidemic at any time.

Withington laid the danger to rapid demobilization and loss of medical personnel in the armed forces.

Japanese scrub typhus and malaria have spread in the Pacific, while smallpox, cholera and typhus also are threatening unless rigidly controlled, he said.

(California state health authorities at San Francisco yesterday announced an "outbreak" of smallpox from the Orient and called upon the public to undergo vaccination promptly.)

Straus Picks Waltz Dream

Oscar Straus, the noted Viennese composer who is to direct his concert orchestra at Symphony Hall tomorrow evening in a concert of his own works and those of Johann Strauss, selects as his favorite among his 40-odd musical stage works "The Waltz Dream."

Most memorable moment in his life, he says, was the night 37 years ago when "The Waltz Dream," his first born composition, was given its first public performance.

"I thought of it just recently," Straus recalled, "when I was composing a new waltz which I have entitled 'Memoirs.' It was a night in 1907 when, as a young, unknown conductor, I watched the performance from an obscure box in one of Vienna's leading theaters. Yes, it was old Vienna then. The audience was bejewelled with pre-war luxury. Many of the men were in glittering uniforms. Royalty was present in the person of one of the Hapsburg archdukes."

Having smashed all existing records in the history of the Exeter Theatre, "The Last Chance," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer International film, is remaining a second week.

The picture, already acclaimed as one of the ten best of the year and praised by critics everywhere, revels the escape into Switzerland of a group of hounded civilians and three Allied soldiers from behind the German lines in Italy. The hunt begins when Sgt. Braddock, USA, and Lt. Halliday of the British Army escape from their prison-trains and are enabled to reach a lake town on the Italian-Swiss border, with the aid of members of the underground.

"The Last Chance" is based on a novel by Richard Schweizer and produced in Switzerland by Lazar Wechsler.

Suit Choice Varied—Molly

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE suit has been called the American woman's uniform. Comes Spring and every woman want one. Still, there are a number of American women whose figures are not ideal . . . and wh go through life trying to make dresses fit the purpose for which suits are made. This is all a mistak

Every woman . . . no matter what her figure faults . . . can wear a suit if she chooses it wisel And particularly so this year . . . when she has for the choosing a variety of jacket lengths. Amer can women deserve variety to become all types of figures . . . and this season they get it.

Molly, one of the very few women designers who ever braved that militantly masculine realm of fashio . . . precision tailoring . . . and the sixth of our "34 Designers Dress You for Spring" series . . . solves th clothes problem for the woman who adores a suit but is figure-conscious and afraid to wear one lest sh make more prominent the figure faults she's been trying to conceal.

Take stock of your figure! If it suffers from one or more of the three figure faults that are supposed to rule suits out of your wardrobe . . . wide hips, a heavy bosom, and is too short in stature . . . learn the art of silhouette illusion.

If your hips are wide, Molly suggests a tunic suit with a coat that covers the hips in a gentle flare . . . or the slimming swallowtail coat . . . or the coat that is otherwise dipped in back . . . and always with a trim but easy skirt. The box jacket suit . . . frequently featured for the very slim-hipped is equally complimentary to prominent hips, Molly maintains.

If you are a woman whose bosom is not only full but low-placed, Molly points out, it is particularly important that the suit jacket shoulders be widened . . . but not heavily and squarely padded. Vertical striping is always good in a suit for the woman with the too short figure, since it creates an elongated line from head to toe and the illusion of height.

A suit is subtle garb . . . it is fashion finesse. Its distinction depends upon figure knowledge and consideration.

(Monday's Designer: Emily Wilkens)

FOR THE WOMAN whose hips are wide . . . this gray gabardine tunic suit by Molly . . . carefully fitted and gracefully flared . . . is ideal. Its unbelted tunic coat covers the hips in a slimming, gentle flare and hangs softly over a trim but easy skirt . . . keeping the silhouette an unbroken, heightening line from shoulder to skirt hemline. A violet flower hat is dramatic accent.

34 Designers Dress You for Spring

HERE'S a stunning Molly suit for the large-bosomed woman in two tones of soft gray gabardine with huge bracket scrolls about two inches wide curving from the shoulder seam downward to a point at the waistline . . . then out again to edge the hipbone pockets. The setting of contrasting inserts widens the shoulder and slims the waistline to create the illusion of average above-the-waistline fullness.

FOR THE TOO short figure . . . or the heavy woman . . . this vertically-striped suit in lightweight worsted . . . which carries the eye right from the jacket through the skirt . . . gives an impression of extra inches up and down and a slimming illusion. Precision tailoring which invokes an ingenious engineering of stripes gives the sleek, slim and supple moulded look to the figure . . . making a fascinating design at the same time.

THREE common figure faults are supposed to rule out suits of the wardrobe . . . a heavy bosom, wide hips and too short a figure, allegedly cut further by a jacket. But there are suits to fool the eye on all these counts.

For the woman whose hips are wide, I suggest a suit with a tunic coat, or the slimming swallowtail coat, or the coat that is otherwise dipped in back. I suggest as well the box jacket suit.

For the large-bosomed figure I suggest a suit that gives a V-wedge shape to the torso, that gives the shoulders a deftly built-out flattery.

For the too short figure, the vertically striped suit is good. The bolero suit also. The short woman need not confine herself to a short jacket. A medium length jacket with a light-colored yoke or with V-inserts of color to the waist, makes the short woman, who is frequently also full-bosomed, look gracefully taller than she is.

Watch Your Toes, Girls, In Being Fitted for Shoes

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE FACT that size 7 is now considered closest to the average American woman's foot sums up a lot of feminine history. Modern women get around these days . . . at home, at work, at play. The "Chinese Lily" type of foot . . . which was all right for grandma . . . just doesn't do for today's women.

Greater activity and independence . . . and a greater appreciation of buoyant good health . . . have taught women that they need not be sensitive about large feet. Today fashion agrees with common sense: a normal, well-shod foot is worth a second look as the gals pass by.

But watch your toes, girls! Here's a little trick in shoe fitting that you should know all about when you buy a pair of those fascinating toeless shoes. Make sure that the tip of your longest toe . . . and it will probably be your big toe . . . is even with the tip of the insole of the shoe when you stand up.

Openings in toeless shoes are being shown in a variety of shapes. Some are square across the front . . . others circular . . . and still others asymetrical in design, like the profile hat silhouette. Most of them are smaller than last year . . . and look smarter, neater, trimmer than ever before.

So watch your toes . . . and particularly the tips of them!

A GOOD WAY TO SERVE

It's a fact, a strange and wonderful fact, that sometimes when a person appears to admire a pleasant quality in you which you know you really haven't but should have, you get very, very busy trying to acquire it . . . and the result may be a triumph. The "appears to admire" may be a bit of a come-on, but it may just be the stimulus needed to turn your thoughts to developing the quality needed.

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on good manners submitted by readers.)

Prepare Child's Food With Care

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

SMALL CHILDREN—and some not so small—often seem to have an instinctive dislike for the more healthful items in their diet—eggs, vegetables, and sometimes milk. The more beneficial a food is, the greater is the problem of getting children to eat it.

When eggs give trouble—try cooking them the way children like them best—soft and moist and above all, fresh. Beat them up with milk and scramble over low heat in the upper part of a double boiler, soft poach them, or bake at low heat so there will be no firm top surface to be broken through.

Food for children should be easy for them to handle. Servings should be cut into small pieces and meats ground. And serve a dish at its very best when a child is introduced to it. Scorched tomato soup, for example, since the child cannot realize that mother was busy and forgetful, may prejudice him forever against this nutritious item in the diet.

SCRAMBLED EGGS

6 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup milk or thin cream
¾ tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. butter or margarine

Combine slightly beaten eggs, milk or cream and seasonings. Melt butter in top part of double boiler. Pour in egg mixture and cook, stirring as it thickens until smooth and creamy. Serve at once on toast. Makes 6 servings.

Mary Wigglesworth is maid of honor and the bridesmaids are Sally and Nancy Thacher, sisters of the bride, Mrs. Robert Homans and Mrs. Benjamin Bradlee. They are all wearing white organdie with bouquets of spring flowers. The maid of honor's headdress is made of loops of yellow ribbon and the bridesmaids' green.

Mrs. Benjamin Bradlee

Receiving with the bridal couple at the Chilton Club after the ceremony, Mrs. Thacher is wearing gray with yellow orchids and Mrs. Tevis gray with white orchids. David Park is best man and the ushers are Robert Homans, Benjamin Bradlee, Howland Russell and Robert Girvin.

Daughter's Second Marriage

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: My daughter is marrying a Navy officer next month, and since she has been married before, we are planning a simple afternoon wedding and she is to wear a street-length dress.

1—They are to be married in a chapel. Is it correct to have her father give her in marriage at this, her second wedding? How about attendants for both the bride and bridegroom? And how should the wedding party enter the chapel?

2—When should I, her mother, enter? And with whom do I enter? E. H.

1—Yes, it is correct for your daughter to have her father give her in marriage. At a bride's second marriage, it is best taste for her to have only one attendant (she need not have any if she prefers not to), and the bridegroom usually has a best man. If your daughter has one attendant, she walks down the aisle first, alone; and your daughter follows, on her father's right arm.

2—You, the bride's mother, are the last person to be seated in the chapel before the bridal group starts down the aisle. If there are to be ushers, an usher escorts you to your place in the first pew on the left of the aisle; if not, you may either walk alone, or with some member of your family.

ABOUT STOCKINGS

In the acute hosiery situation which has prevailed for several months we have tried to allot fairly the greatly reduced supply.

In common with other good stores throughout the country, we have found it difficult and at times dangerous to put stockings on sale in the department due to the large crowds which assemble and which, in some instances, it has been impossible to serve in an orderly way.

Many thousands of orders have been received from both charge and cash customers. These have been recorded in the order of their receipt, and notification is being sent in the same order and to the extent that stockings are received.

The number of orders which we now have is so far in excess of the limited deliveries to us that it will be many weeks before they can be filled and we can give no assurance when additional orders can be filled.

There is no store in the United States that can supply the demands of their customers for hosiery. There are many plans of allocation, but we know of none that is any fairer than ours, and there is no problem before us today which concerns us as much as the fact that we are unable to satisfy the needs of our customers for stockings.

Possibly, within a few months, the situation will improve somewhat. When it does, we hope to catch up with our back orders and accept additional ones.

In the meantime, we believe that we owe it to our customers to state the facts plainly and to express to all of them our deep regret that

We are unable to accept further orders for stockings now

A LONG-NEEDED SERVICE

THE ANNOUNCEMENT by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroad companies of through coast-to-coast sleeping car service, without transfer in Chicago, is indicative of the alert and enterprising spirit in which the great American railroad industry is preparing to meet its postwar obligations and opportunities.

The Santa Fe system will inaugurate this improved and uninterrupted service on March 31, utilizing connecting roads east of Chicago.

Effective June 2, Pullman passengers between Los Angeles and the Atlantic seaboard will be routed to their destinations without change of cars over the Southern Pacific, the Rock Island and connecting Eastern lines.

Beginning the same day, Pullman passengers between San Francisco and the Atlantic seaboard will be similarly routed over the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chicago and North Western and co-operating Eastern lines.

This will be the first time in American railroad history that such accommodation has been available to transcontinental travelers.

It marks the end of an antiquated system that has made an ordeal of coast-to-coast travel, and that has been a continuing discredit to the railroads.

It has always been an absurd and inefficient system, from the standpoint of the railroads themselves, to require the transfer of passengers from one line to another and often from one station to another in Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans—the three key rail centers through which all transcontinental travel flows.

It has been a costly and time-losing system for the passengers, confusing and bewildering to travelers unfamiliar with the congested cities and stations, and a hardship upon the luggage-laden, upon those with children and especially upon older persons and the infirm.

ACCORDINGLY, it is gratifying that the railroads will no longer persist in a practice which is so plainly against their own interests and advantage, and which is so detrimental to the comfort and convenience of their patrons.

As a recent newspaper advertisement published by the Chesapeake & Ohio railway and the Nickel Plate road acknowledged:

"There is an invisible barrier down the middle of the United States which you cannot cross without inconvenience, lost time and trouble.

"If you want to board a sleeper on one coast and ride through to the other, you must make double Pullman reservations, and wait around for connections."

In all practical effect, the advertisement challenged, "a phantom Chinese Wall splits America in half."

The progressive Canadian transcontinental rail lines solved the problem of through coast-to-coast service long ago.

Even the American lines have long since provided such service for livestock, with the ironical result, as the challenging advertisement pointed out:

"A hog can cross the country without changing trains—but YOU can't."

They are demonstrating great wisdom in dispensing with the time-killing mid-continent transfers and stop-overs that not only inconvenience and annoy more than half a million travelers every year but tend to drive them to other means of transport.

EQUALLY NECESSARY, of course, is immediate improvement of railroad service throughout New England.

There should be better and more frequent trains for the thousands who commute daily to Boston and other large cities.

There should be up-to-date facilities for those who come from distant States to enjoy our winter and summer resorts.

The people want reliable, safe and comfortable travel.

The road which affords it is bound always to succeed.

On the Side

By E. V. Durling

The angels must have shed a tear
To have her leave their side
She was so dear.
God, let us have her for a while
To see himself reflected in her smile.
But, alas, her life on earth was brief,
Just 15 years in her short span,
Yet we know in spite of deepest grief,
God's great love in sending us
Our Barbara Anne.

—DORIS MARGARET GOODSPEED.

ABOVE IS an excerpt from a poem written by the author in memory of her only daughter, Barbara Anne, who passed on at the age of 15 . . . A Bostonian tells me the butter shortage hasn't bothered him at all. He says his wife makes butter at home. For this she uses the cream that comes on the top of the regular bottle of milk. "Of course, all woman could not do this," writes the proud husband. "My wife is very clever. Besides, she is a country girl."

PLEASE NOTE: New mutuel machine wagering racetracks are being promoted everywhere; not only for thoroughbreds but also for harness horses and greyhounds. Some cities will have thoroughbred racing by day and harness horse or dog racing by night. It is quite possible this excess of racetrack activity might inspire a protest, upon the part of the more conservative elements among the citizenry, which might eventually result in the demise of the goose that lays the golden eggs of profits for the mutuel machine industry.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Now tell us what tune the Scottish Highlanders played when they threw themselves at the American bayonets in the Battle of New Orleans? A—"The Campbells Are Coming." Q—Have you checked on General Montgomery being a vegetarian? If that vegetarian, who called you on this, was right, did you send him a parsnip? Or was it a head of lettuce that was wagered? A—General Montgomery is not a vegetarian. He refrains from eating fish, pork, bacon and eggs because his doctor ordered him to do so. Q—You say Jake Daubert was the only great first baseman the Brooklyn Dodgers ever had. How about Tim Jordan? A—Tim was a good hitter, but could hardly be classed as a "great" first baseman.

Gen. Montgomery

AS TO MARRIAGE: Following are some of the observations on matrimony which have been placed in our Horses & Women files: "It is better for a woman to marry a man who loves her, than a man she loves." —La Rochefoucauld. "Marriage is a condition most women aspire to, and most men submit to."—Brooks. "A man though he be gray-haired can always get a wife. But a woman's time is short."—Aristotle. "It is mind, not body, that makes marriage lasting."—Publilius Syrus. "The reason why so few marriages are happy is because young ladies spend their time in making net, not in making cages." —Jonathan Swift.

SAYS HE: "Divorcees are generally too obviously calculating when seeking another mate" writes a New York bachelor. "My choice is the real widows. Usually the widows are as understanding, mellow, considerate and sweet as Norma Shearer. They are single due to no fault of their own. They retain their original charm, poise and character and do not look you up in Bradstreet's to see if you can meet their requirements."

Norma Shearer

SIDELIGHTS—According to Hollywood experts, the measurements of the "perfect" feminine leg are: Ankle 8½ inches, calf, 11½ inches, thigh, 19½ inches.

PASSING BY: Leonard Hicks. Genial Chicago boniface. One of the country's cleverest hotel men. Is a former vaudevillian. He married one of the Millership sisters . . . George "Brownie" Leach. Once a Lexington, Ky., newspaper man. Now press agent for the Kentucky Derby. My choice for that race is Knockdown. However, I understand Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, owner of this noble animal, believes his stablemate, Lord Boswell, will be the winner.

FLYING CUTIES: Airline stewardesses receive a higher percentage of proposals of marriage than young women engaged in any other activity. The average flying cutie remains a stewardess about a year and a half. Then it is wedding bells for her. This is another break for the cute little tricks, as the average stewardess is slightly over five feet in height.

". . . And now, we bring you the most chilling, terrifying ghost story . . ."

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

OBVIOUSLY Governor Lehman resigned from UNRRA in pique over the appointment of Herbert Hoover to discover why UNRRA failed to save Europe from famine.

Herbert Hoover

During the entire course of the war, Mr. Hoover has been warning of famine, and even when Governor Lehman visited him at the Waldorf-Astoria upon his appointment to head UNRRA, Mr. Hoover warned him of the nearness of famine.

The former President is now in Europe representing not a congress of nations but the people of the United States, the most generous nation on earth.

But UNRRA is a political agency. It is a compromise among governments and it cannot possibly work because some governments want to use hunger, starvation, distress and despair politically.

I am sure that Mr. Lehman has all along meant well, but he is not one that fights great names nor for great causes.

He is more the administrative type that respects authority, when circumstance demands that he speak out truthfully and courageously no matter whom his words may blast.

MR. LEHMAN KNOWS, as he must, that the wheat that Soviet Russia offers France is American wheat to be carried in American ships.

Anyone with even slight political acumen will recognize that this offer was made France so that the hungry French, in their despair, will in May vote for Thorez, the French Communist.

They will vote for anyone for bread, for they are hungry. Wheat is used for politics, not for relief. Hunger is employed to corrupt the spirit as it weakens the body.

Does Mr. Lehman or UNRRA dare to demand that Russia pool her surplus as we and Canada pool ours and as the Argentine would undoubtedly be willing to pool her surplus?

Does he inquire of the wheat of the Ukraine and White Russia and Bessarabia and the Dobruja—granaries of Europe for centuries?

Does he ask Russia to pay her full share into UNRRA?

FAMINE DOES not wait upon personalities nor politeness. Senator Pepper may servilely support politeness, but death from starvation is not arrested by the timidity of the Floridian whose heart is sensitive to Moscow.

Until the next harvest is gathered, millions of men, women and children must die of hunger no matter how much is done for them.

What they need most are grains and fats. Rationing the American people will not aid more than voluntary abnegation.

But what is absolutely essential is that grain, needed for human consumption, shall not be fed to animals.

TO PUT the whole problem bluntly, the American garbage pail could save millions of lives.

Has Mr. Lehman ever told the American people the truth about that?

Has UNRRA waged a public battle against waste, depending upon the good-will and charity of the American housewife rather than upon snooping OPA officials?

Has he ever shown the American people what he must know to be true, that UNRRA might have done an effective job if OPA had not dislocated farm-food prices so that food humans weep for, hogs eat?

It sometimes takes great courage and it is often bad manners to tell the truth.

It might even involve a breach of good-fellowship with those who pull at the same straw.

So, all that Mr. Lehman can offer to handle a famine is the resumption of rationing in the United States.

That is about as stupid as Henry Wallace's fake report on wages and prices.

Sniping at Hoover will not help bring anyone a loaf of bread. It will only comfort the Communists who fear the consequences of an honest report to the nation by a courageous American.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 23—Before Somerset Maugham left Hollywood he had an amazing conversation with Darryl Zanuck, who is producing his "Razor's Edge." The famous novelist said: "I am an old man 75 years old. I will write only two more novels in my lifetime, for when a man becomes my age the spark begins to dim." What an amazing thing for a man of his great talent to say, and not too long ago Maugham, who was a proud and temperamental man, would never have said it. But lately he has changed and has become so much more mellow and approachable.

Dolores Del Rio

But the news is Darryl made an oral agreement with him that both of these books would be submitted to 20th Century-Fox for screen plays. This is a coup the studio may well be proud of. Maugham did not say what the plots would be, but the first will be a modern society drama in the same witty, satirical style that put Maugham in a class by himself as a novelist.

THEY ARE very happy in Mexico over having Arturo de Cordova back in the fold again. I hear he's obtained his release from Paramount and is going to make pictures in his native country from here on in. He is really an idol down there and his popularity on the American screen never reached the fever peak it did at home, in spite of such swashbuckling pictures as "Frenchmen's Creek." His first back home will be with Dolores Del Rio, who is Mexico's top feminine star, in "Backwash," a Rian James story which she bought in this country.

THE NEW BOY signed by Hal Wallis—Burt Lancaster—has himself a job. Hal lost no time in lending him to Mark Hellinger and he gets a very swell role for a starter, the lead in "The Killers," the Ernest Hemingway story which Mark is making at Universal. Mark has been talking to Arleen Whelan about one of the leads in his picture and it will all depend on whether Arleen feels she can do the heavily dramatic part. Heretofore her forte has been mostly in light, gay comedy, but I believe she can do it and you'll admit she is photogenic.

CARMEN FIGUEROA, one of Mexico's most popular girls, brought Countess Nancy de Marigny and Mrs. Margarita de Avila Camacho to my house for a cocktail. I was especially interested in Mrs. Camacho, who wants to become a motion picture producer. Her late husband, Gen. Meximino Avila Camacho, brother of the president of Mexico, had an interest in three studios and she inherited this from him. She has received permission of the president to become a career woman. Possibly some of her interest in pictures is due to the fact she is expected to marry Jorge Velez, one of Mexico's important film producers. She tells me that her daughter, Gloria, is getting married Easter Monday and she has bought some of the young lady's trousseau in Hollywood.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Buff Cobb's family isn't at all hot on the idea of her movie career and have started a campaign to lure her back to New York from Hollywood. I guess it is the movie acting angle they object to because they are so proud of her sketches they submitted them to a wallpaper company and Buff was offered a job. So far she isn't falling for the bait. She told the family clan, "I want to be an actress—not Miss Wallpaper of 1946."

CAN'T SAY the reconciliation of Hedy Lamarr and John Loder lifted an eyebrow in surprise. Even when Hedy admitted to me that John had left home and she and the children were living alone, I had a hunch he would be back. Meanwhile she's a gal who is keeping busy, for the minute she finishes "Strange Woman" she goes into "Dishonored Lady." The news about this picture is that Robert Stevenson, out of the service after three years as a captain in the Signal Corps, has been signed to direct. Stevenson has quite a record. He was in charge of photographing the Allied taking of Rome.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Georgiana Campbell, Hobo News reporter, sends word she's back with Tommy Manville. In fact she tells me, save for the few little separations, they have been together all the time. Well, that is news; maybe it's still on between Van Johnson and Jacqueline Dalya. Van met her at the train when she arrived back in town and took her to the Beverly Tropics for dinner; Betty Hutton has been ill two days and out of her picture. Too much excitement maybe over the expected stork event; Peter Lawford has finally gotten around to Radio Row's favorite girl friend, Marilyn Maxwell; Virginia Bruce is seen everywhere in Mexico City with a wealthy Turk, Ali Apar. Looks as if her romance with Corney Jackson is all off.

ANN RICHARDS flies to Australia as soon as she can arrange her transportation. Her 22-year-old brother, Ronald, died and she hasn't seen her mother in five years; Sir Alexander Korda, who has been sick several days at the Beverly Hills Hotel, is well again and feeling fine, he says. He's leaving Wednesday for England; Stirling Hayden is hotel hopping in San Pedro in an effort to find a place to live, or a boat to buy; Harry Davenport celebrated his 75th year as an actor and Dorothy McGuire gave him a party on the set of "Claudia and David." He is 80 years old and made his stage debut at the age of five; Gloria and Peggy Lloyd, daughters of Harold Lloyd, and Shirley Temple are now in the Debutante Register, the book of teen-age socialites; "Forty Days of Musa Dagh," Franz Werfel's book, bought in Irving Thalberg's time, is being discussed again for a movie.

WASHINGTON, March 23—I hate to imagine what Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace must have on his mind. In a report on fats and oils put out by his department we come upon this amazing statement:

Sec. Wallace

"In earlier years it was difficult to capture blue and fin whales, as they are faster than the sperm and right whales, and, unlike them, have a specific weight heavier than water and sink when killed. But the faster ships of today have no trouble outdistancing them and the rope attached to the harpoon is strong enough, with the aid of steam wenches, to raise the carcass to the surface."

Miss Reid, tell those other wenches to be sure to keep up steam!

WILLIAM B. ZIFF, the author and publisher, gave a dinner in honor of Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, recently-appointed chief of chemical welfare. Gen. Waitt told a reporter, who was permitted to mingle with the guests, that he wasn't news because he was "the most insignificant and smallest general in the Army."

This turned out to be but a prelude to a brutal pun.

"I weigh only 118 pounds," he said. "That's Waitt's weight!"

ADJACENT Montgomery County, Md., has ruled that jewelry habitually worn on the person is exempt from personal property taxes. Several writers suggested that Evalyn Walsh McLean, owner of the Hope Diamond, might find this news interesting.

Mrs. McLean wears the Hope Diamond, which is slightly smaller than a locomotive headlight, wherever she goes. She exhibits it to all new guests but won't let them touch it.

"It's bad luck for everybody but me," she explains.

In consequence the lady has had her chest stared at more often than Lana Turner. (I wonder why she refuses to adore me when I give her all this wonderful free publicity.)

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"Yes, I'm keeping a record of the good times we've had together—but it's not a diary—IT'S THE STUBS IN MY CHECK BOOK!"

Mrs. McLean is a great hand for wearing jewelry on the person. I know that if I had to carry it I would be so bow-legged I could ride a dromedary without spreading my legs. But she appears to bear up well.

A couple of Christmases ago a friend gave her a huge gem-studded ornament. Mrs. McLean showed up at this friend's home with the thing strung from her neck.

"You aren't supposed to wear that!" exclaimed the giver. "It's supposed to be hung from the foot of your bed!"

Mrs. McLean looked dumbfounded.

"For heaven's sake, Cissy!" she cried. "I can't go around carrying my bed!"

PRESIDENTIAL Secretary Matthew J. Connelly is a bug on the trombone. Wherever an orchestra is playing he watches the trombonist enraptured.

Recently Matt was dancing at the Shoreham, and Barnee, the old maestro, pointed him out to his trombone player, Johnny Arnold.

"That's the second-best trombonist in the world," said Barnee. "He's the famous Miff Mole."

Arnold was impressed. In fact, he became so nervous, believing he was playing before a master, that when he caught Matt looking at him he blew up and muffed his solo.

Later Barnee told him the truth whereupon Arnold flew into a rage.

"You mean he isn't a trombone player at all?" he screamed. "Only the President's secretary!"

Boston After Dark

MARK THE NAME OF Maj. James Hughes in the notebook of nominations for the job under Tobin of Commissioner of Public Safety . . . While the Governor dalleis over the political enigma of keeping Comr. Stokes—and it is eight weeks overdue, that choice—the qualifications of Maj. Hughes are winning new admirers who are willing to recite them to His Excellency.

LOOMING LARGE in Maj. Hughes' list of assets is his experience as a career man in the police profession . . . Before he left his job and home for the service, Maj. Hughes (a native of Worcester) was a lieutenant in the State Police . . . His support from stalwart Democrats in the western part of the state is strong and going to be stronger.

BOSTON AUTHORS are well represented currently in the well-paying slick magazines . . . Harold Kaese, a Boston newspaperman, does a keenly analytical job in covering the story of Joe Cronin as Red Sox' manager in a dime magazine, and Arthur Fiedler, conductor of the Pops, takes pen in hand, while his baton rests, to tell the tale of the Boston Pops concerts in Holiday, a new travel magazine which seems to have an interesting formula and the opposite in content.

A GIRL PEDESTRIAN could have had the better of a male motorist who brushed her off and knocked her down in Beacon st., near Charles . . . But the victim of the knock-down talked too much . . . when her assailant picked her up and began to berate her for her carelessness, the girl's carmined lips came in contact with his shoulder . . . "Why didn't you look where you were going?" he demanded . . . "Why didn't you look while you were picking me up?" she countered . . . "My lipstick is smudged all over your coat collar . . . Try to explain THAT when you get home!"

AN HOUR LATER—when her doctor was salving her hurts and making an examination to determine the extent of the girl's injuries, she had recovered sufficiently to recall the details of the incident . . . "If I had only kept my mouth shut!" she kept repeating . . . The doctor consoled her . . . "Don't worry, my dear. There are no eye, ear, nose, throat or mouth injuries," he told her . . . The patient was quite recovered by now . . . "I'm not thinking of myself, doctor," said she . . . "I'm thinking of the brute who bowled me over . . . I let him know that he was suffering from lipstick smear . . . I should have let nature—and cosmetics—take their course . . . I know he was married because of the way he kept looking over his shoulder."

STAFF DOCTORS of the Boston City Hospital are aiding the drive to enlist high school girls as nurses . . . From the two upper classes of Roslindale High School alone, 60 seniors have signed up for the nurses' training course at Boston City Hospital . . . A Boston City Hospital degree in nursing is a prized certificate . . . Members of the Boston School Committee are supporting the nurse enrollment drive, and Dr. Frank Henderson, chief of surgery at City Hospital, and Dr. William Reed Morrison, may be credited with the initative for canvassing the Boston high schools . . . Nursing is not as underpaid a profession as it was before World War II.

McINTYRE'S BAND — and please do not confuse it with McNamara's organization—just missed cracking Vaughn Monroe's record in Chicago last week, and Vaughn's record was just $2000 under the all time high in gross receipts which was set by Tommy Dorsey et al . . . At the Keith-Boston, Hal and his boys are packing them in . . . Nancy Reed, the girl vocalist traveling with the McIntyre orchestra is a sure comer in fact she has arrived . . . Her history is remarkable . . . Vaughn Monroe signed her—just a couple of months ago . . . But Vaughn hired her for the Commodore Hotel, and not for his aggregation . . . As a result, Nancy was put to work playing piano at intermissions at the Commodore . . . Maestro McIntyre discovered her at the Commodore . . . Nancy isn't playing piano any more!

WHY IS IT that every screen butler speaks with an English accent? Don't they know about American butlers and Swedish butlers and Filipino butlers in Hollywood?

How come Frank Sinatra spends so much time combing his locks to get that unruly look (oh, yes, he does, girls), when he could achieve the same effect by not bothering at all?

Doesn't it make you feel a little antique to recall the days when Norma, Greta and Joan were undisputed queens of M-G-M and nobody had ever heard of Greer or Judy?

Why does Joe Cotten photograph so pale, when in person his rouge - pink complexion is his most startling characteristic?

Is either Lana Turner or Hedy Lamarr ever destined to know a romantic happy ending that isn't part of the studio script?

Why does Jerry Colonna go through life with that huge handlebar moustache when it would be so easy just to glue on a lip toupe for comedy purposes?

Why does Van Johnson always wrinkle his forehead when he speaks? Is he worried people won't think he's worried?

Did you ever think you'd live to see the day when one of Hollywood's most successful enterprises would be a gown shoppe for mothers-to-be?

When Paulette Goddard does a minuet in "Kitty," why do you suppose she uses her hands, hips and shoulders as if she were doing a sizzling rumba instead of a dance supposedly sedate? (Great-great-grandma never did it that way, Paulette.)

Why do studios spend so much time, effort and money exploiting starlets who never even get to face a movie camera?

Mercy, isn't Tarzan getting chubby?

Why is it there has never been a movie hero who looks like Gene Markey, although Gene Markey always seems to get the leading ladies in real life?

Why it is that in the flickers no one ever looks at a taxi meter or waits for change from the driver? Doesn't anybody ever need change for five?

Wouldn't you be awfully tired of hitting the "Road" by this time, if you were Dottie Lamour?

America Is Fumbling The Big Job in Europe

By AUSTEN LAKE

LET'S FACE THE UGLY TRUTH! America is doing a bad occupational job in Europe. We are rapidly losing the peace again, as we lost it so tragically 26 years ago. The vast prestige which we built during the combat phase of War II has dwindled from its once mighty torrent to a tiny drip. As one who has just returned from a review-tour of postwar Europe I say we are botching the job. And here are three basic reasons . . .

Austen Lake

(1) The morale of the U. S. Army in Germany is at ebb tide due to poor officer discipline and chronic disinterest in the task. All except a small minority of officers and troops are drawn from what was the rear area during wartime or from green, half trained recruits hastily thrust into gaps left by quick demobilization. In Franfurt the nerve center of our occupied zone, a professional colonel told me, "To say that our army is 20 per cent efficient would be rating it high. We've been losing our grip steadily. Most of the officers don't give a dam! How can you expect the men to do otherwise?

U. S. CAREER OFFICERS with whom I talked had the answer. They agreed that what is needed is immediate recruiting of a professional constabulary along lines of our state police—seasoned, well-trained soldiery with attractive rates of pay, distinctive uniforms and removal from interference from overlapping authority like the AMG (Military government).

This writer in making recent rounds at Frankfurt found it virtually impossible to locate desired officials, to find out where they were, or when they would be back. Except for a few sturdy souls nobody seemed to know anything about anything and the only true efficiency was the ability to pass the buck. The Army was on vacation.

2—The wide use of mixed foreigners in key U. S. bureau positions and abuse of trust. For lack of competent American civilian personnel with trained ability, almost every U. S. installation in Europe is saturated with pick-up employes spiritually and technically unfitted for their jobs. In many cases presiding officers use these jobs as personal patronage where hirelings (females preferred) are installed for their charm instead of efficiency.

At others they're just Joes who happened to be hanging around. There was a "Security office" at Ciampano Airfield, Rome, where travelers were supposed to be screened for phony credentials or improper papers—a task formerly considered vastly important and usually presided over by officers picked for smartness in the head.

But this "Security office" was staffed by two Italian civilians, one a youngster who didn't speak, or apparently read, any English, and neither of whom knew what it was all about from the manner in which they pecked vaguely at the wrong pages of your passport and fumbled with your travel orders. The older one who knew a little English didn't know how to fill out his forms and kept coming back to say "I geta da passporta agin." Wherever I went the same situation was usual, some native functionary who gazed around vaguely and rushed off to ask somebody else, usually failing to come back. Or if you asked simple information of a GI recruit in any hallway his universal answer was "Don't know bud" and a careless shrug.

To one like myself, who had seen the magnificent alertness and clockwork precision of our well-conditioned, able Army during the combat period of the war, it was dismaying—like replacing a fine Stradivarius violin with a musical saw.

Like an Opium Den

(3) THE FAILURE OF UNRRA and our relief agencies to distribute food and essentials where they would reach the truly needy people without red tape and over-handling but irresponsible parties. Frankly, from what I saw of American UNRRA personnel, I don't think we picked very superior persons. The huge yellow brick UNRRA building in Rome, beside the American embassy, was like an asylum for opium cure where everybody sat or walked in a milky haze.

As always with any free public feed-trough, the biggest pigs shove the weakest and smallest porkers away from the nourishment. Thus, though UNRRA can hardly help having done some good, its supplies too often are dispersed by local political influence or through preferential channels. And a proportion mysteriously finds its way into local black markets. With the proper price and little effort one can find bootleg merchants in Rome and Paris who will sell you GI or UNRRA shoes, tinned foods, U. S.-donated garments, American brand cigarets or whatever is your whim.

This is not all UNRRA's fault. For the universal and unbreakable habit of the American soldier is to load himself up on any Army article that has exchange value and hawk it at a middleman's price. They tell me, and my sources on this subject are unimpeachable, that few GIs in Rome, Paris or Frankfurt do not have a "fence" for their goods—even though the penalty for getting caught is a stiff court-martial sentence.

The result is that throughout Italy and Germany the phoenix of Nazism and Fascism is absolutely rearing its ugly head from the ashes of defeat. In both countries the tendency is to remember the comparative lush benefits under Mussolini and Hitler against the harsh scarcities and administrative fumblings of the hydra-headed conqueror.

Europe is weighing our overseas brand of democracy in the bitter scales and finding it a shoddy counterfeit against the hard realties of its needs. It is beginning to prefer again the coercive activism of the Nazi and the Fascist who left little to popular initiative but whipped people into industry and production.

We of America have two alternatives: (1) to pull out of Europe entirely and let war's chimera rise again or (2) to prosecute the peace to a full, determined, intelligent limit by recruiting or drafting trained professionals, both army and civilian, to take over a job now being done by grade B lazy, indifferent or stupid amateurs. Which?

America's future peace hangs on the reply!

ORTIZ TO QUIT RING

EL CENTRO, Cal. (AP)—Manuel Ortiz, bantamweight champion of the world, announced yesterday that he will retire from boxing in the near future.

Tiger Pitchers Fail To Silence Sox Bats

SARASOTA, Fla., March 23—Manager Joe Cronin revised his batting order for the game with the Bengals here today.

With Bobby Doerr slightly lame after pulling a muscle in his left leg in running out a first-inning triple in Friday's game with Cleveland, Ben Steiner again was at second base and batted lead-off in the new order.

Lee Culberson, who had been leading off, dropped down to third, a spot previously occupied by Dom DiMaggio, who was moved down to the fifth slot.

Larry "Lefty" Powell and Otis Clark took care of the Sox pitching in the order named. The injury-riddled Tigers started Hal White, veteran right-hander, who was in the service the past three seasons.

Manager Steve O'Neill recited a hospital list which included the names of outfielders "Hoot" Evers, Barney McCoskey and Pat Mullin and infielder Eddie Mayo.

The Red Sox injury jinx continues to pick on the pitchers.

George "Pinky" Woods is the latest victim. The former Holy Cross ace hasn't been able to bend his elbow since his stint against the Yankees' team at Bradenton last Thursday.

Bob Quinn, former Red Sox and Braves president, making a tour of big league clubs in his new role as good will ambassador for the Wilson Sporting Goods firm was among the spectators.

Rally by Lawrence 5 Best of School Year

By MIKE GILLOOLY

New Bedford High School became the Cinderella Kids of schoolboy basketball, but it's evident that Coach Win Dodge wouldn't mind in the least if Central Catholic of Lawrence, jumping into the semi-final round tonight against St. Mary's of Waltham in the New England Catholic tournament at the Boston Arena, borrowed the nickname.

Central will meet the Waltham outfit in the upper bracket of the new round as St. John's of Concord, N. H., tangles with Sacred Heart of Holyoke in the lower half.

The Lawrence team staged the most stunning comeback in local court history this season in raging back against Mission for a miraculous 33-32 victory. Central had been completely outplayed for three periods before the team got the "feel" of the competition, to roar ahead and then sit on the sidelines as Mission failed to tie it up after the game had ended.

Beyond any doubt it was the most thrilling final period of the season. With Central leading by three points, Bill O'Rourke of Mission made it 33-32 as the final whistle sounded, but then missed a foul shot that would have sent the game into overtime—as the entire Central squad lined the floor with fingers crossed.

Sacred Heart of Holyoke also had to put on a "whirlaway" finish to gain its entry into the semi-final round at the expense of defending champion De La Salle of Newport, R. I., the pre-tourney choice.

St. John's of Concord, N. H., will never be a pop-over for any team in scholastic ranks just so long as the wiry Tom Hardiman continues his play. This Concord one-man gang popped home a total of 17 of his team's 42 points as Cheverus High of Portland, Me., fightingly resigned from the championship play.

Ed Boyle and William "Dicko" Driscoll, working as a combination in the officiating featured slow whistles that sped up the play considerably

Demote Holmes To Second Team

By BILL GRIMES

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 23—Manager Billy Southworth made an unexpected shift in his varsity, sending Tommy Holmes to West Palm Beach with the Jayvees and promoting Slapsie Maxie West to his big club for today's game with the Giants here at Westside Park.

Since he returned from his father's funeral Max West has been playing with the Sand-Daubers, while Holmes has been with the first team. Tommy Holmes hasn't been hitting (.195) and his fielding and base running, apparently, didn't impress Manager Southworth.

There were two other changes in the Braves lineup. Nanny Fernandez was shifted to third base and "Whitey" Wietelmann went to shortstop.

FIRST INNING

GIANTS—Rigney out, McCarthy to Fletcher. Bartell walked. Ott fouled to Fernandez. Mize lined to West. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—Ryan popped to Blattner. Hopp out, Blattner to Mize. Rowell fanned. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

GIANTS—Young walked. Pike flied to Hopp. Shanks went out the same way. Young went to second, when McCarthy allowed the return throw to get away from him. Blattner was intentionally passed. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—Fernandez fouled to Shanks. West out, Koslo to Mize. Masi out, Bartell to Mize. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

GIANTS—Rigney fouled to McCarthy. Bartell walked. Ott singled, Bartell stopping at second. Mize forced Ott, Ryan to Wietelmann. Young grounded to McCarthy. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—McCarthy flied to Pike. Wietelmann out, the same way. Flitcher flied to Young. NO RUNS.

Bruno Mazzio Leads 20 Milers

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Bruno Mazzio of South Portland, Me., took a 200-yard lead with his long strides as the long list of entries in the North Medford 20-mile road race neared the halfway mark. Plodding right behind him, however, were the favorites in a closely bunched group.

Slayton Farrar, a winner over this same course two years ago and recently out of the services, was in second place, with Gerard Cote, former BAA Marathon winner, right behind him.

Following in close order were Charlie Robbins of the Norfolk A. C.; Louis Balg of the Millrose and Lewis White of Brooklyn.

Most of the thousands who lined the streets of Malden and Medford gave a tremendous reception to Clarence De Mar, running in long gray flannels, blue shirt and sweater.

Nelson's Admirers Raise $120,000 Wager

CHICAGO, March 23 (INS)—Golf promoter George S. May added $50,000 today to the total that Byron Nelson's admirers have raised to wager that the American golfer can beat the British stars, Dick Burton and Dais Rees, in a special match.

Joyce Proves Class In Boston Ring Drills

By JACK CONWAY

WILLIE JOYCE, Gary, Indiana lightweight, has impressed those persons who have seen him in action in his Boston workouts as he gets ready for his 10-round bout with Bobby Zollo at a Callahan A. C. show at the Garden on Monday night . . . Joyce first attracted national attention when he abruptly stopped one of Hammering Henry Armstrong's come back campaigns in a tussle at the Chicago Stadium . . . Joyce was later moved into New York by Mike Jacobs and he has piled up a long list of victories against outstanding boxers.

Joyce at the age of 28 is at the peak of his fighting form . . . He has the boxing class and hitting power to step into action with the leading boxers of his weight in the world.

Bobby Zollo

While Joyce figures to win from Zollo, he will be risking considerable ring prestige in the Monday night bout . . . Zollo has won 20 straight bouts . . . He is a graduate of the All-America tournament and like "Red" Priest, Sal Bartolo, Johnny Skhor, Georgie Martin and other All-America stars, he has gone on to establish a name for himself in the ranks of the professionals.

Win or lose, Zollo will toss his best Sunday punch against Joyce . . . He will have to be lucky to leave the ring a winner, but Zollo maintains that a boxer with a punch and a fighting heart always has a chance to come out in front.

Allan Wilson to Stay

BILL KYNE, boss of Bay Meadows, told this writer that in the event his Western group, with powerful Boston financial support, acquires Suffolk Downs for about $2,000,000 that Allan Wilson and Eddie Goode can remain in their present posts if they wish.

"I do not intend to bring my own men into Boston for all of the key jobs," said Kyne . . . "All I ask is full control of management. I wish to be the one to decide the policies of the track, and the racing program. You may be sure that if I get Suffolk Downs that the calibre of the racing will be of the best . . . One must put on the best possible racing show to keep a track like Suffolk Downs in the dominant position it has a right to hold."

It is expected that Kyne will come East within ten days to discuss the Suffolk Downs situation with the Racing Commission . . . The West Coast race track head wants to make sure that Chairman Louis Hoffman and Commissioners Owen Gallagher and Harry Allen will accord him every possible co-operation to put racing on a lofty plane.

"If the Racing Commission does not want a Western group in the Suffolk Downs picture, I shall return to Bay Meadows and forget the entire deal," said Kyne.

Royden for Pascoag

WHILE TALKING with Bay Meadows, I received a hello from Norris Royden, former steward at Narragansett Park . . . I learned that Royden will be the presiding steward at Pascoag this year. He will take the place of Sam Nuchols who will be unable to be at Pascoag during the coming season on account of another engagement . . . Nuchols recommended Royden as his successor . . . Pascoag has approved the selection of Norris and the latter has made plans to come to New England before the Pascoag meeting opens in May.

Pascoag will operate its first meeting at its present quarters, but its fall meeting will be held at its new $1,000,000 track at Lincoln, R. I. Lincoln is only a short distance from Pawtucket, and it will be easy for racing fans to reach.

Fans Booh Garden Draw

By BILL SMITH

Gus Mell, 139¼, Montreal, and Johnny Cesario, 140½, North End, fought a gruelling 10-round draw in the feature bout of the Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden last night before 6757 fans.

Judge Jim Carrig and Referee Tommy Rawson called it a dead heat at the end with Judge Joe Blumsack voting for Cesario.

Cesario piled up a big margin in the early rounds and appeared on his way to an easy victory as he opened a bad cut over Mell's left eye in the opening stanza.

The superior boxing ability displayed by Cesario had Mell in a fog until the final three rounds when Gus staged a fast finish to earn a draw. Mell had big eighth and ninth rounds, and dropped Johnny on the canvas as the bell ended the ninth.

The verdict was roundly booed by the fans who thought that Cesario was entitled to the decision.

Following the bout, it was announced that Sal Bartolo, N. B. A. featherweight titlist, and Dennis (Pat) Brady of Hartford, Ct., would meet in a non-title 10-rounder April 5.

Gross receipts were $16,472 and a net of $11,352.

In the eight round semi-final, George (Red) Doty, 156, of Hartford, Ct., took a divided decision over Buddy Brown, 154, of Boston.

In the other eight-rounders, Steve Curley, 133½, of Toronto, scored a five round technical knockout over Al Smith, 131¼, of Boston, and Larry Pacino, 164, of Boston, kayoed Dusky Al Evans, 162, of Newport, R. I., in the second.

Hubert Gagnier, 128½, of Montreal, needed only 60 seconds to knock out Joe Herbert, 124, of Lowell, in the scheduled six rounder.

Bruins Backs to Net

By FRED HOEY

DETROIT, March 23 — The Bruins arrived here this morning determined to step into the lead in the Class B matches of the Stanley Cup series in their third game with the Detroit Red Wings tomorrow night.

The Bruins have no alibis to offer for the loss of the second game. They know they were clearly outplayed, outskated and outhustled. Now their backs are against their own net. They have got to snap out of the doldrums if they expect to meet the winners of Class A.

From this observation post, we thought the Bruins were a bit too cocky going into their second Detroit game. They were taking too much for granted. This is something that clever hockey guys like Art Ross and Dit Clapper can't avoid. It gets into the system of the players. More and more, the value of the first goal scored is emphasized. The team that puts away that first tally is the team to watch in the final outcome. There is something about that initial scorer that gives his team a lift.

But the Bruins can't be too cocky with the Wings in their games here tomorrow and Tuesday nights. Jolly Jack Adams has a flock of good skaters under his command. It is strictly up to the Bruins to match this speed.

They matched it in the opener but fell by the wayside in the Thursday battle which the Wings won with comparative ease.

The Bruins have the stuff to overpower the Red Wings. Whether they use it properly is strictly up to the players themselves.

Three Tackles Added To Yankee Roster

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—The New York Yankees have added three more tackles to their roster bringing the total of players under contract to the All-America conference football team to 53. The latest gridders to sign contracts were George Sergienko, who played with the Boston Yanks of the National Football League last year; Cecil Sturgeon, formerly of North Dakota State and the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL, and Roman Pisker, who starred at Niagara a few years ago.

HOCKETT TO RETIRE

PASADENA, Cal. (AP)—Oris Hockett, White Sox outfielder who apparently had a first-string berth clinched for this season, yesterday said he had decided to go on the club's voluntary retired list.

Red Sox, B's Game Sellout

By BILL GRIMES

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 23—The Braves-Red Sox' game, scheduled for next Monday at the Westside Park, and which will be played for the benefit of the local war memorial fund, is a complete sellout. So it is hoped that Mgr. Joe Cronin of the Sox won't decide to leave Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr, Dom DiMaggio, "Boo" Ferriss or Tex Hughson back at Sarasota when he flies here for the game.

Manager Billy Southworth refused to name the pitcher he will use against the Sox but my guess is that it will be Johnny Sain. Southworth was serious when he stated that he wants to win this game. Neither has Cronin named his starter.

Tim Triner and Glen Fletcher, a couple of cunky right handers, will do the pitching this afternoon against the Giants. Neither has had many opportunities to display their wares and their showing today will have a strong bearing on their status with the Braves.

Mort Cooper is developing a "fork" ball . . . Bama Rowell has worked out at third and second but Southworth denies that he anticipated any change from his original plans, which were that Rowell was definitely a fixture in the left field . . . Lt. (jg) Bob Jackson, a former Framingham High catcher, who attended Springfield College for two years before he entered the Navy, worked out with the P

Jack Tobin Released

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 23—Detroit's world champions faced the Red Sox here today, but Jack Tobin, third base candidate, won't be in a Sox uniform.

"A lousy shake," said Jack Tobin this morning. "I've been released to New Orleans, but who is going to show me how to hit down there—Johnny Peacock? What did he ever hit? I'm not going to report. I'm going home to Oakland, Cal. If they don't like it I'll quit baseball."

Eddie Collins has been down here for the past week. He's been huddling with Cronin. He's a friend of Peacock's.

"Why don't you let me play in Coast League?" Tobin put it right up to them.

Tobin came to the Sox out of the Navy last spring. He hit the ball in the city series with the Braves like a Williams. He's a good prospect. Considering he played only 20 pro games (with Louisville) in '42 and then went into the Navy, he did all right last year. (252).

He was a baseball and basketball star in Roosevelt High, Oakland when he attended St. Mary's, he was ranked next to Stanford's Hank Luisetti. Ask "Cat" Metkovich, Emmett O'Neill or Eddie McGah.

The Red Sox have to cut down, and naturally their first cut down is at third base where eight men are battling for the position.

Sox 11; Indians 4 was the final score. Hughson fanned seven in six innings, gave four hits . . . Earl (Silver Star) Johnson twirled the last three innings. After being belted for four straight hits, he mowed the Indians down in the eighth and ninth . . . Williams hit a three-run double in the eighth, drove in five runs for the day . . . Doerr hurt his leg on his way to second as he tripled in the first. He'll rest over the week-end.
